Pursuing perfection for over 125 years

Sausage is a pretty traditional idea – meat, herbs and spices served in a natural or artificial casing. Whether you're a large commercial sausage factory or a small local butcher, it all starts with the quality of the casing.

For more than a century, we've been processing natural casings. Quality is at the core of our craftsmanship – and the source of our passion for perfection. Everything we do is driven by passion, purpose, and pride from our natural and artificial casings to our innovative ingredient blends, our borderless logistics and our nose-to-tail approach to sustainability. And the results show on your bottom line.

Read on to discover what we have to offer and how our extensive expertise in the casing industry can bring value to your business.

The global group with the local touch

DAT-Schaub Group is a multinational company with local companies in 16 countries and more than 3800 dedicated employees. Encoded in our DNA, our passion for perfection is embedded in everything we do and comes through in every culture we touch.

Persistent round-the-clock logistics

Whatever recipes you're developing and producing, and no matter where you are in the world, we can always help you source the exact casings and ingredient blends you're looking for. Even in times of global uncertainty, this staunch supply-chain commitment ensures your shipments arrive in the right condition at the right time – every time.

The most extensive expertise in the casing industry

Nobody knows your customers better than you. You know their preferences and how best to cater to them. We'll start with getting a nuanced understanding of your needs and work closely together to achieve the best solution for your products.

Great sausages
deserve great casings

Passion for perfection

All you need to succeed

Get everything you need to produce the right quality of sausages and processed meat products for your customers. We offer the world's largest assortment of hog casings for the food industry. We also process sheep casings and distribute artificial casings at selected markets. Both our natural and artificial casings are known for their quality and featured by some of the world's best brands.

Hand-crafted natural casings

For many sausage makers, high-quality, uniform casings are essential. To achieve ultimate uniformity, the inherent properties of the casing need to be maintained throughout the slaughtering, cleaning, selection, and calibration processes and properties like density, flexibility, and durability are also vital.

Nothing beats a skilled hand when it comes to controlling these processes. At DAT-Schaub, it's both hands and machines that clean and salt the casings, fill them with water, select them according to size and measure their length. The casings are salted at low temperatures and can be tubed before final packaging and shipping.

Our hands-on processing methods may seem old-fashioned, but that's how we deliver ultimate uniformity and how we contribute to the perfect final sausage.

Nature's own - naturally

Hog casings

We process sets of hog casings from European, North American, and Latin American slaughterhouses. We also trade hog casings from other countries around the world. The closer we are to the raw material, the better for our processing flow. We produce products with short whiskers, high transparency, and a clear, white appearance. Our hog casings are ideal for high-quality fresh sausage, smoked and cooked, and dry sausages. Perfect uniformity in size and shape ensures minimum waste in your sausage production.

Sheep casings

We buy sheep casings in New Zealand, Australia, the Middle East, and Europe. The casings are selected at our own facilities making it possible to supply the widest range of sheep casings for sausage production.

With a smaller natural casing diameter and excellent bite quality, our sheep casings are the perfect match for fresh and cooked sausages. The casing strength and texture allow for smooth cooking and smoking and maximum quality.

Beef casings

We have a large import of primarily South American beef casings including beef rounds, beef middles, and beef caps. We also produce beef tribes at our own facilities in various slaughterhouses.

Casing cleaning lines

More than 125 years of processing natural casings means we have unlimited know-how when it comes to designing and constructing machinery to process and select natural casings. We sell and distribute these machines and tools worldwide.

Artificial in a natural way

Artificial casings inspired by nature

As the world's supply of natural casings can't satisfy the global appetite for delicious sausages, industrious sausage makers know how to use high-quality artificial casings.

Cellulose casings

Cellulose casings combine high elasticity with an extremely consistent calibre. They are permeable to flavours and smoke as intended during the smoking process but are impermeable to other unwanted aromas. With their excellent peelability, industrial meat processing is made easier. They are ready to stuff and ensure a faster and cleaner production process. These casings are especially suitable for smoked and unsmoked sausages, for dry-cured sausages and for use on high-speed peelers.

Collagen casings

Collagen casings have enjoyed great worldwide popularity for decades. Whether for fresh or cooked sausages or snack sausages, every collagen casing is a classic. A variety of tailor-made products ensure the best stuffing process on all machines. Collagen casings are ready to stuff and ensure a cleaner and faster production process and excellent organoleptic properties.

Fibrous casings

Fibrous casings are tailored casings made of fibre reinforced paper and cellulose which gives your finished product a natural look. Their uniform calibre and excellent peelability are superior, and they're available in the best converting format to suit your process. From cut pieces to shirred and ready-to-use materials, we can help you to make the most out of your cured meat product or dried sausage production.

Plastic casings

Plastic casings are designed to bring cost-efficiency and added value to the meat processing industry, and a never-ending range of applications are available. They bring various shapes and durability to the final meat product, and the different barrier versions and mechanical properties can increase product yields during the meat processing.

Ingredient blends - for at taste of innovation

Changing tastes and lifestyles keep everyone in the meat industry on our toes – and provide us with unique opportunities to create interesting new flavours and textures.

At our application laboratories in France, innovation for the food industry is constantly on the menu. If you combine our experience in food processing and our knowledge of functional ingredients and seasoning blends, there is hardly a texture and taste that we cannot make.

All ingredients are delivered in bulks or in ready-to-use blends, helping you to optimise logistics and purchase. Barcodes on all ingredients ensure full traceability throughout the production process.

Nature's own anticoagulant

Another invaluable product is mucosa which is derived from the mucosal tissue of hog casings. From mucosa, we manufacture crude heparin (in the EU and the US), the source material for pharmaceutical heparin, an injectable anticoagulant. Heparin is used to treat and prevent blood clots caused by certain medical conditions or procedures. It is also used before and under surgery to reduce the risk of blood clots, helping to save lives every day.

Nose-to-tail sustainability – nothing goes to waste

With our global presence comes a global responsibility. By 2050, nearly 10 billion people will need food – and that’s why at DAT-Schaub, nothing goes to waste.

We’re committed to use every natural by-product of the animal. By leaving nothing to waste, we are doing our part to create a more sustainable future for food, which is an important objective for DAT-Schaub and our owners. Our passion for perfection is not just about quality casings, it’s also about making the world a better, healthier, and tastier place.
